

2017 Cloud computing survey

In January 2017, InfoTrack and IPS conducted their second annual Legal IT technology survey of practitioners across Australia. The 2017 results reveal an increasing preference toward Cloud based solutions with the majority of firms already having business approved Cloud strategies in place. The top priority for this year is increasing productivity and many firms have implemented online client collaboration platforms and mobile working environments.

97% of firms are considering key platforms or solutions that are Cloud-based or that are fully hosted via SaaS arrangements.

Top issues firms are facing

58% of firms recognise the Cloud as being a game-changer.

Top priority for firms in 2017

Helping lawyers become more productive.

BUT

2 in 5 have clear and adequate policies to support a mobile and flexible work environment.

